3,115 Students In Kingston Grammar Schools Is Report

Board of Education Holds of (Continued in Several of City Schools)—Total of 4,776 Attending City Schools.

Superintendent of Schools R. C. Van Ingen reported to the board of education in adjourned session Friday evening the registration at the various schools including the high school. The registration at the high school is 1,661 compared with 1,435 last year and 1,379 in 1930. The situation at the high school is "acute" and Mr. Van Ingen stated that after the mid-year examinations another 200 students would register bringing the total registration well up toward the 2,000 mark. In the high school as well as in grade schools where there is exceptionally heavy registration every effort has been made to adjust the classes to meet the emergency.

In a report submitted by Mr. Van Ingen the registration in the grammar schools of the city was shown to be 3,115, considerably more than last year at a corresponding date when many pupils were being withheld from school due to an infantile paralysis epidemic. However at the close of September when most of the pupils were back in school last year the registration in grammar schools was 2,758. In 1930 the grammar school registration exceeded that of this year.

Comparison Made

The following comparison is interesting:

	1930	1931	1932
Reg. Reg.	2,758	2,758	3,115
Grade schools	1,379	1,435	1,661
High school

Total 4,554 4,198 4,776

Of the 1,661 registered at the high school 340 are freshmen entering school, and 842 are boys and 819 are girls.

A request from the Benedictine Hospital staff for use of the high school auditorium on the evening of October 7 for the commencement exercises of the 1932 class of nurses was granted.

Kingston, Conn., Sept. 10 (AP).—Knights of Columbus No. 275, Knights of Columbus, was granted use of the high school auditorium for the presentation of a play for charity. No date was requested further than to state the play would be in late October. The usual terms will be imposed.

A request was made by several of Kingston's Greek residents for the use of a room in No. 7 school for an hour between the hours of 4:30 and 5 o'clock for the purpose of conducting a Greek school. The communication stated that the services of a Greek professor had been secured and that there would be a class of about 30. The school would be held each day.

Discusses Proposition

The matter was discussed by the members of the board and finally laid on the table until further examination and investigation could be had. It was the opinion of some of the members of the board that to grant this permission would open the door for any number of private schools to make a similar request. It was suggested that French, German, Italian and any number of other private schools might make application for use of a school, presenting a serious problem. Before granting the permission and establishing a precedent which it might be hard to continue the request was held over for further investigation.

It was stated that about a year ago a room in No. 7 had been used for a similar school although the records of the board show no action on the part of the board granting permission. There was some difference of opinion among the operators of the school and after a few weeks the school closed.

The August payroll amounting to $5,716.85 was offered for audit. It having been audited under authority given at a previous session, and paid. Bills amounting to $9,123.41 were audited.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the finance committee to audit and the president and clerk to draw checks in payment of the interest due October first, 1932, to holders of registered bonds for the erection of the high school. This action was necessary since the next regular meeting of the board would be too late in the month of September to permit the drawing of checks in time for payment of interest when due.

Van Ingen Reports

Superintendent Van Ingen submitted the following report, which was read, and the board then adjourned:

For your information I am submitting the registration figures for the Kingston schools as of today (September 9).

I found a heavily congested condition in School No. 7 which has been adjusted temporarily by placing an assistant teacher; pending the action of the teachers' committee.

There was also an overload in grade 1-B of School No. 6 with a registration of 66 pupils. By the assignment of some of the grade 1-B

Alcohol, Drivers, Salesgirls, Police

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP).—The "traditional assumption" that alcohol stimulates digestion was challenged by some gastric measurements reported to the American Psychological Association today.

Sudden stimulation of digestion followed quickly by prolonged interference was found by Dr. A. L. Wineor of Cornell University when he measured the flow of saliva after drinking. Today's report is his final statement of a preliminary finding given to the American Association for the Advancement of Science a few months ago.

"It would appear from our results," he said, "that the traditional assumption that alcohol stimulates digestion should be re-examined. Apparently the stimulating effect would characterize the influence of alcohol in the stomach, but once it is absorbed into the blood, its action would retard digestion."

In general, our results support the findings of other psychologists and physiologists who have shown that alcohol retards and inhibits, rather than stimulates behavior. It should no longer be listed as a stimulant but preferably as a narcotic of a depressant.

Reporting on the psychology of automobile driving, Alvin R. Lawer of Iowa State College said that all drivers take a little longer to park than short ones. Persons who have accidents also take longer to park. Women drivers average more than twice as long to park as men, but this is not apparently associated with accidents. It is a sex difference. The average male parking time is 23.4 seconds and female 65.1.

Among Iowans men of 40 to 45 tend to have more accidents than when younger. But after that they improve, and the safest of all drivers are around 60.

The best qualification for holding an average job is to be "typical" rather than "superior." This was the general conclusion from a study of 4,000 unemployed of the Twin Cities reported by M. R. Traube of the Employment Stabilization Research Institute of the University of Minnesota.

The scientists sought to assist unemployed in discovering why they were out of jobs. Some surprises resulted, Dr. Traube said, with the result that a reorganization of the entire scheme of classifying occupations is indicated as desirable.

Sales girls of comparatively high education were found to sell less goods than the average. Seemingly the qualifications for success as a salesgirl are about the same. These include personality, education and dexterity tests.

Robins Believed To Be In Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 10 (AP).—Belief was growing among Chicagoans early today that Raymond Robins, missing prohibition and social service leader, is somewhere in Chicago, following a statement by W. W. Haupt that he saw Robins at State and Monroe streets last Thursday afternoon. Haupt said he exchanged greetings with Robins. He was the second person to report having seen Robins in Chicago since his disappearance.

Chicago friends of Mr. Robins felt that Haupt's report added considerable weight to a previous assertion made by Mrs. W. Requa Bryant of Evanston, who said she saw Robins in the Chicago Loop on Thursday. Haupt fixed 3 o'clock in the afternoon as the time he met Robins. This was but thirty minutes after Mrs. Bryant said she saw him. Haupt is an automobile dealer. Both he and Mrs. Bryant have known Mr. Robins for twenty years.

"I couldn't be mistaken," Haupt said. "I was walking north and he was going south in State street and I recognized him in the crowd and said, 'Hello Mr. Robins.' He answered me and walked on."

"He was wearing a black slouch hat and grey suit."

"He was alone. I thought nothing of his failure to stop and chat, as I had seen him as recently as the Republican National Convention, when he addressed the resolutions committee in favor of a dry plank."

N. J. Cook Has Contributed $166

Superintendent Nathan J. Cook of the local Board of Public Welfare has contributed his month's salary, amounting to $166.66, to the welfare aid fund to purchase clothing for needy school children. Mrs. Frederick Snyder is chairman of the Volunteer Aid Committee and D. N. Mathews is treasurer.

The increased registration in the high school is becoming an acute situation and there are still some problems of adjustment to be brought to the attention of the teachers' committee when the high school daily schedule is definitely settled.

Respectfully submitted, R. C. VAN INGEN, Superintendent of Schools.

Approve Reply To Germany's Demand For Arms Equality

Paris, Sept. 10 (AP).—The Council of Ministers, with President Lebrun presiding, approved unanimously today the text of the French reply to Germany's aide memoire demanding equality of armaments.

The reply, among other things, points out that German demands call for a revision of the Versailles treaty and that such a procedure could not be taken by France and Germany, but should be proposed to the League of Nations.

The text will be taken to Berlin by a member of Premier Herriot's staff who will deliver it to the French ambassador there tomorrow. The premier said it probably will not be published here until Monday evening. It was indicated that the American government would be provided with a copy of the reply.

Note Is Courteous

The note was described as extremely courteous in tone, dealing separately with the points raised by Germany, but emphasizing that the proper place to discuss this matter is Geneva, where Germany is a member of the League of Nations council.

The reply also takes the position that since disarmament discussions already are under way at Geneva it is in bilateral negotiations of interest to so many other countries.

It is understood that the reply recalls traditional doctrine that France is disposed to reduce armaments in proportion to the increase in international security arrangements. An official communiqué announced that the cabinet had decided upon conversion of French rentes (government bonds) and that Parliament will be assembled on September 16 to discuss the measure.

Favor Undertaking

It is believed that Parliament will favor the undertaking in principle but that the Socialists, perhaps even some of Herriot's own radicals, may insist upon a formula which will not be too big a reduction in revenue for the people as a whole.

A government spokesman took exception to published accounts that Italy is backing the German demand for equality in arms.

He said the French understanding is that Italy wants the lowest possible level of armaments and is not therefore favorable to an equality which involves increase instead of reduction in arms, but does favor equality on a downward level, permitting economies to all participating nations.

PREFERS JAIL TO FINE IN SPEEDING CASE

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10 (AP).—An old-fashioned quilting bee has been adopted by Milwaukee club women as means of raising funds to appeal to the State Supreme Court the case of Mrs. Peggy Seely, who twice chose to go to jail rather than pay a $25 fine on a speeding charge.

Protesting what she termed the "case-a-minute racket" in district court, Mrs. Seely fought the case through several stages in circuit and municipal court, but each time she lost. She insisted she was not given a fair hearing in district court.

Mrs. Seely said she would have preferred to drop the case long ago, but feels herself obligated to carry on in behalf of other motorists who might be "railroaded."

Albert Press Cut Head

Albert Press of 104 Second avenue while walking along Murray street Friday night fell and struck the back of his head, sustaining lacerations of the skull. He was taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment.

Governors Grapple With Farm Prices

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10 (AP).—Indications today were that mid-west governors who are here to work out a plan to cure the farmers' ills would draft a legislative program for submission in each of the affected states designed to bring immediate relief to dissatisfied producers.

The exact line of attack on the problem could not be foretold, but the governors, after hearing all of the numerous proposals pouring in on them from widely separated sections of the country, hope to work out some plan which not only will give the farmers relief within a short time, but may be used as the basis for a permanent comeback on the part of agriculturists of the mid-west.

From noon yesterday until midnight last night the Governors' representatives of farm organizations, business men, legislators, judges, farmers, and numerous others present plans for alleviating the present economic condition of agriculture.

From others throughout the mid-west they received by mail and telegraph suggestions, plans and ideas aimed at solving present low price conditions which hundreds of farmers have organized to fight under the banner of the Farmers' Holiday Association which has sponsored highway picketing in this and other vicinities during the past month.

The plans offered for their consideration ranged from a suggestion to use surplus grain and sugar beets in production of alcohol to be used as motor fuel to an air-tight embargo on all midwestern farm products until prices equal the cost of production. Around today's conference are gathered Governors Dan Q. Turner of Iowa, Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota, George F. Shafer of North Dakota, Warren E. Green of South Dakota, and Representatives Ira Mitchell of Oklahoma, T. S. Allen of Nebraska, L. T. Olroyd of Wyoming, Earl H. Hanefeld of Ohio and Merrill Reiss of Wisconsin.

The proposals suggested thus far provide for: restrictions on Federal seed and stock loans and farm mortgages; issuance of more money by the Federal government; placing of unemployed men on small farms; governmental price fixing; and organization of a central marketing agency designed to regulate prices and remove the threat of surpluses.

Bold Thief Entered And Stole New Car At Forsyth & Davis

Entrance to the Green Street Show Rooms Made From the Rear—Thief Picked Out Best Car on the Floor and Helped Self to Auto Accessories and Drive Away.

A new model five passenger Pierce-Arrow automobile is missing from the floor of the show rooms of Forsyth & Davis Motor Company, Inc., at 112 Green street, together with a number of automobile accessories. The theft of the new automobile was discovered this morning and reported to police headquarters.

Entrance to the show rooms had been obtained from the rear into the repair shop underneath the show room. The thief had then gone up stairs to the show room and unlocked and swung open the large doors leading to the street.

There were a number of new automobiles, including Plymouths, Chryslers and Pontiacs on the floor of the show room, but the thief passed them all by and picked out the new Pierce-Arrow car, which is tan in color.

After selecting the car he desired he then helped himself to two AC reflect signals, one clear light, one electric clock, one spot light, and one accelerator signal, which he placed in the car, and then drove away.

Word of the theft and description of the missing car was placed on the teletype machine at police headquarters this morning.

Painting By Mother Of Dr. Chandler To Hang In St. Mary's

St. Mary's Church has been given the replica of St. Anthony of Padua, the original of which was painted by Murillo, the Spanish artist, and has for years been in the Berlin Gallery, Germany. This painting was done by Isora C. Chandler, the mother of Dr. George F. Chandler of this city. Isora C. Chandler was one of the best known artists of her time and was the first woman to receive the degree of Master of Painting in this country. She was also a writer of note, her book "Anthology" being considered one of the best sellers 45 years ago. Mrs. Chandler was also a miniature painter of note and specialized on dog miniatures which were quite a fad at that time. She was professor of free hand drawing and water colors at Syracuse University in 1899 and 1902 and later came to New York where she had a studio, and was connected with the New York Herald. The painting will be placed in the church and the gift is made through Father Scully.

Arthur Hummel, 36, of Haines Falls, had his leg amputated at the Kingston Hospital on Friday afternoon as the result of injuries sustained that day when his leg came into contact with the saw while engaged in cutting wood. He was rushed to the hospital where Dr. George F. Chandler found it necessary to perform the amputation. His condition today was reported as fair.

$200,000,000 To Be Expended In Relief Hinted In Bern Death Says President

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP).—More millions were added today to huge federal outlays on public construction which President Hoover says have more than doubled in recent years as an employment aid.

"Slightly less than $200,000,000" was the chief executive's estimate of the sum to be expended immediately under the relief act.

He said this amount would bring this fiscal year's total construction outlay to over $750,000,000, which, in turn, would bring aggregate construction expenditures since the depression began to about $2,300,000,000.

Mr. Hoover announced the government's plan to speed construction with relief act funds in a formal statement late yesterday accompanied by a letter from Secretary Mills saying the money would be available at once. The President said:

"In order to aid employment I have instructed the various departments to undertake the speeding up of the federal construction program by the amount of slightly less than $200,000,000, being the contingent appropriation in the 1932 relief construction act."

"The secretary of the treasury has notified me that the necessary funds can be now made available. By the addition of the amounts which can be applied from this fund, the total federal construction work during the present fiscal year of all kinds will exceed $750,000,000."

This speeding up from this additional fund will be largely in the river and harbor, flood control and public building projects which were authorized from two to five years ago.

The expenditure on all classes of construction since the depression began and up to next July will total $2,300,000,000. This sum is more than double the normal pace and the enlarged work has, of course, been taken solely in aid of employment.

The actual projects which will be speeded up under this additional sum will be announced by the various departments.

TO MAKE TEST CASE IN GAMBLING CHARGE

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP).—The Rev. O. R. Miller, superintendent of the New York Civic League, caused the arrest of a man at the Syracuse State Fair yesterday on a gambling charge. He indicated the arrest was in the nature of a test case, saying if he won a conviction he would "clean out" the fair grounds today. However, the accused man was given an adjournment to Wednesday.

Mr. Miller, an Albanian, said gambling at Syracuse was worse than that at Belmont and Saratoga, because the fair was a taxpayers' institution and gambling was "hurting" it.

The accused man is Richard Turpin of Syracuse. He was accused by Mr. Miller of making a book on the horse races. He pleaded not guilty. Last Tuesday Mr. Miller attempted to give Governor Roosevelt a letter in which he charged "open and flagrant gambling" at the fair. One of the governor's secretaries took the letter.

VISITED MONTGOMERY-WARD MAIN OFFICE IN CHICAGO

H. A. Tweedie, local manager of Montgomery-Ward and Company's store on Fair street, has returned from a business trip to Chicago. While there he visited the main office of Montgomery-Ward. The nature of his trip was not revealed. He was accompanied by Raymond Craft, also of this city.

While in Chicago Mr. Tweedie visited the site where the World's Fair will be held next year. This visit he reports as very interesting and that from present indications the fair will be a world wide attraction when it opens.

CLAUDE T. DAWES DEAD IN ALBANY

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP).—Claude T. Dawes, state solicitor general since the office was created in 1927, died at his home here late yesterday after a brief illness. He had been a deputy attorney general since 1913 and was regarded as the state's foremost expert on constitutional law.

PAID FOR NIGHT FOR HUNTER ESTABLISHMENT

New York, Sept. 9 (Special).—An application seeking to padlock for one year the bar and roadhouse known both as the "Half Way House" and the "Moate Carlo Villa," located on route 25A, Hunter, N. Y., was entered in Federal court here today by Assistant United States Attorney Earle N. Bishop. Harry Gordon is described as proprietor of the establishment and owner of the real estate. The charges are sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a common nuisance.

Quarrel With Wife

Los Angeles, Sept. 10 (AP).—Newspaper assertions that Paul Bern threatened his beautiful wife, Joan Harlow of the films, the night before he killed himself, complicated the mystery of his suicide today as authorities searched for "the other woman"—dead or alive.

Reports of a possible quarrel with Miss Harlow came in a story by the Los Angeles examiner that the movie executive threatened the actress with death last Sunday night. His body was found in his home Monday.

From various sources close to the actress, the newspaper said, "It was declared that Bern flew into a rage at Miss Harlow and screamed, 'Get out and let me alone. If you don't, I'll kill you.'"

The report was unverified from other sources and contradicted testimony given at the inquest when John Carmichael, the Bern butler, testified the couple parted Sunday night the "best of friends."

Further mystery came in the reported disappearance of Miss Harlow's Millette, once known as "Mrs. Paul Bern," from a Sacramento river steamer while enroute from San Francisco to Sacramento, Calif., the day after Bern's body was found.

Sacramento authorities today prepared to search the river for her body, meanwhile asking police in Reno to determine whether Miss Millette ever reached the Nevada capital.

The double search was ordered because officials were not certain whether the woman drowned, swam ashore or left the steamer at Sacramento unnoticed. All they know was she boarded the steamer in San Francisco, was seen only twice enroute, was not seen to leave the boat at Sacramento, and that her luggage was left aboard. An empty bathing suit bag found in her effects lent some credence to a theory she may have faked suicide.

Sacramento officers narrowed places to be searched to a comparatively small area after conferring with men familiar with the river, and were positive they would recover the body if Miss Millette drowned in the river.

While the search for Bern's common law wife went on, the ashes of Paul Bern lay at rest.

In a cloistered scene with a few intimate friends gathered about the casket, funeral services were held yesterday while the grief-stricken widow wept quietly.

In a belief eulogy Conrad Nagel, screen actor, said "Inevitably it is a besetting sin of Hollywood, but Paul Bern never bowed down to that falsehood."

Prohibitionists Lay Plans For Campaign

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP).—The support of congressional candidates friendly to prohibition was today's advice to voters from two outstanding prohibition organizations—the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League and the National Prohibition Board of Strategy.

The League's committee, in a formal statement said that organization could not support the position of the two major presidential candidates. It added that "no national political party convention can bind senators and congressmen" who "are responsible only to their constituents for the manner in which they meet their official obligations."

The Board of Strategy last night discussed at some length a proposal by Canon William S. Chase that drys support a third party movement and decided to center campaign efforts on senatorial and congressional races.

Senator Borah of Idaho and Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania had been suggested by Canon Chase as third party leaders.

Dr. Ernest G. Cherrington, prominent board member, said the third party resolutions had not received a second vote and that while not formally voted on, he felt the matter was closed so far as the board was concerned.

NEW SUBWAY OPENS

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—The new Eighth avenue subway—a twelve mile career of tracks and shiny steel cars—operated today on a cash basis, after three days of trial runs.

At exactly 12:01 a. m. today, the mechanism of the $194,200,000 municipal project was officially set in motion. Several thousand persons, anxious to be among the "first riders," stormed the city-owned turnstiles.

The opening, which was announced as satisfactory, was conducted under the observation of three city transportation managers.

Protest Over Photos Leads To Diplomatic Action With Japan

Japanese Protest Taking of Pictures of Japanese Building by Branch of American Bank—Serious Aspect Presented.

Tokyo, Sept. 10 (AP).—The storm of protest during the last two days over the photographing of a number of Japanese business and industrial buildings by the National City Bank of New York assumed a more serious aspect today and led to diplomatic action.

Delegations from several Japanese patriotic societies visited the branch of the bank at Osaka and attempted to intimidate its Japanese employees. Osaka newspapers came out again with full pages devoted to protests against the photographing and also printed a number of other reports to limit that the United States was making other preparations for possible war.

Ambassador Joseph C. Grew immediately arranged for an interview with the Japanese foreign minister, Count Uchida, and called on him at the foreign office this afternoon.

Newspaper Charges

The newspaper charges, which included a long list of American activities, such as the presence of the American fleet in the Pacific, an alleged cruise of three airplane carriers along the Kurile Islands, and establishment of new American air bases on the Aleutian Islands, were broadcast over the semi-official radio station at Osaka.

The charge that the bank's photographs might get into the hands of the United States war department for use in mapping targets for air bombing raids was reiterated.

The newspaper Kokumin Shinbun, which led the criticism, said there were many manifestations of serious intentions of America against Japan.

An American woman, whose name was not given, paid a mysterious visit to the Kurile Islands a month ago, the newspaper said, and it added that many American air bases "which cannot be considered purely commercial" are established in the Aleutian Islands. The paper admitted, however, that Japanese naval officials said all these reports were unconfirmed.

Bombing Planes

The newspaper also published prominently a report that Americans were sending many bombing planes to Hangchow, China, to assist the Chinese army in establishing an air base.

Shanghai dispatches last month told of a group of American fliers under Colonel John L. Jett, formerly of the U. S. Army, serving as flying instructors at Hangchow.

Today, the American embassy asked the Japanese government to issue a statement exonerating the National City Bank and to assert that thorough investigation showed the charges to be utterly unfounded, but the government did not immediately accede to the request.

Officials of the branch bank explained that the photographs, which were taken in accordance with instructions from the bank in New York, were to be used in promotion matter illustrating business and industrial developments in the far east.

MRS. DEFEW ACQUITTED IN KIDNAPING CASE

Kansas City, Sept. 10 (AP).—The state's case against the six persons so far arrested on charges of kidnapping Mrs. Nell Q. Donnelly, wealthy garment manufacturer, has been completed with the acquittal of Mrs. Ethel Dewey.

The former nurse in the Donnelly home was freed last night by a jury which reached a verdict in 36 minutes. The state then announced dismissal of a charge of kidnapping George Blair, Mrs. Donnelly's negro chauffeur, who was abducted with his employer.

Mrs. Dewey was arrested last December 24, in Bloomberg, Pa., six days after Mrs. Donnelly was released unharmed without payment of $25,000 ransom demanded by her abductors. The Kansas City woman was held captive more than 30 hours.

Presbyterian Church Extends Its Program

New Church Services for Vespers to Offer Musical Settings by Local Minister—Young People and Men's Club Organize.

With all stated services of worship resumed Sunday, the First Presbyterian Church on Elmwood street begins its year's program with many new features. These include two choirs to share the ministry of music; a new arrangement of the sanctuary and new organizations for work in the church.

In the morning the Senior Choir will lead in the music, directed by Miss Edna Matthews, organist, with Raymond Duflois as baritone soloist. Changes in the service include only a revision of the order with the inclusion of appropriate liturgical details.

The service of vespers, however, will be distinct each Sunday. This is planned to be predominantly a vocal service for worship. Each vespers will present a different theme pertaining to the Christian religion. Both the order and details will be familiar to all acquainted with the history of Christian worship, for they will help maintain the historical continuity of the communion of saints throughout all ages. Leading in the music of these services will be the vocalists and choir which makes its first appearance tomorrow afternoon. The address each Sunday will be brief.

New Church Services for Vespers to Offer Musical Settings by Local Minister—Young People and Men's Club Organize.

The new choir was formed during the summer and has been in training under the direction of Mrs. Goodrich Gates, wife of the minister. The choral services for vespers have been arranged by Dr. Gates, who is using standard church melodies together with music of his own composition. These latter include the musical settings for opening sentences, varied psalms, chorale prayers and responses, which will be used on this and succeeding Sundays.

Work of re-furnishing the interior of the church was completed this week with the hanging of new draperies in liturgical colors. In this work the men of the church cooperated, giving of labor and materials. Most conspicuous changes are the elevation of the communion table, approached by new altar steps, and the construction of a new pulpit south of these steps.

Young People Organize.

New groups in the church, besides the two choirs, include a Young People's Society just formed, a study class and Men's Club and Ushers' Association soon to be organized. The Young People's Group is now temporarily organized with Donald Basswell as president; Miss Frieda Niebergall, vice-president; Earl Tanager, secretary, and Miss Edith Gillett, treasurer. The group will meet twice a month on Tuesdays for a service of worship and social activities. The first regular meeting will be September 20, when the newly drafted constitution, the organization name and the projected program for the fall months will be presented for adoption.

The new class for study is being organized by Mrs. Gates for young women not now enrolled in any class of the church school. This group will meet temporarily in the manse at 11:45 Sundays and will take up a study of the Christian religion as related to contemporary life.

The Men's Club is expected formally to organize early next month, but prior to that date the prospective members are planning a chowder supper to be prepared and served exclusively by themselves to the general public. The Ushers' Club is proposed as a subsidiary organization of the Young People's Society, similarly with the senior choir which also is composed of young people.

The combined groups took the first step toward organization when they enjoyed an outing at Camp Glenrie of the Y. M. C. A. followed last week by a meeting at the manse for organization. One of their first activities of the fall will be a mountain climb.

The New Era League, composed of women of the church, holds its first fall meeting next Wednesday, September 14, at the camp of Mrs. William Longyear. The Westminster Guild formed of young women, will convene at a later date to be announced.

Subscriptions to the Worker's Quarterly will expire with the October issue. All officers of the society are urged to renew their subscriptions this month in order not to miss any of the copies of the Quarterly.

All members who desire to attend the district workers' rally are requested to announce their intentions at the meeting Tuesday evening. All members are urged to attend this rally if it is at all possible for them to do so. The officers of the society are especially urged to attend in order to become more acquainted with the work of the district. The rally will be held at East Rensselaer, N. Y., and programs will be sent to those who intend to attend some time next week.

The next regular meeting of the Young People's Society will be held Tuesday evening, September 13, at 8 o'clock. The resolutions adopted at the meeting of the executive board will be presented to the members at this meeting. Every member is asked to be present at the meeting. Refreshments will be served at the close of the business session.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.) New York—Ole Olson's teeth bit him on the right hip, thereby causing him much ado. Olson, bearing his artificial crutches in his hip pocket, entered a crowded elevated station, sat down heavily, got right up again and shrieked: "I'm stabbed!" Police reserves, radio cars and an ambulance got there in a twinkling. A doctor took three stitches in Ole.

Melbourne, Australia—Gold diggers have created a traffic problem in the country town of Wedderburn, Victoria. Several were given permission to dig in a byway. They found so much gold that other streets are impassable and buildings are being undermined.

New York—Here's good news for good little girls who are looking forward to Christmas. A three weeks' strike of 2,500 gold makers promises to end soon because their union officials and employers have drafted an agreement.

Seattle—Hugh Eugene Wood is only two but he is progressing splendidly with his language lessons, thank you. He speaks Esperanto to his father, who is an Esperanto enthusiast, and English to the rest of the family.

New York—These are almost, but not quite, quipsies days at city hall. Joseph V. McKee, who succeeded James J. Walker as mayor, was reminded that the city's $191,000,000 subway line was to open early today. "Now, all we need is a nickel," he said. It was the first recorded wisecrack from the mayor's office under the new regime.

Concert Inspires Orchestra Members

While the members of the Kingston Symphony Orchestra need no urging or inspiring to get them to take up another year's work, last evening's concert, given under the direction of Pierre Heurte, concert master of the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra, New York, Georges Barrere, Leon Barrow, Paul Kiefer, Gerald Kunz and others, raised their spirits to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

From the members of the Symphony Orchestra may come, in time, groups of musicians, who themselves can give us fine concerts of chamber music. In fact, every such concert sets the ideal for other musicians to strive after.

So in turn, the Kingston Symphony Orchestra has become the musical goal of the young people who are members of the High School Orchestra and it is hoped among musical circles and by a host of parents that schools may soon resume the grade school orchestra.

There the children will have the High School Orchestra and finally the Kingston Symphony Orchestra to grow toward musically. That musical future is also something that the members of the Symphony Orchestra are deeply interested in, the musical development of the children of the community who will in time perpetuate and carry forward the Kingston Symphony Orchestra. Because of this hope, the orchestra has, in the past, and will in the future, continue to give the public the musical of each concert in the afternoon of the concert for the children of the schools of the city.

3 Burned To Death When Plane Crashes

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 10 (AP)—Tightening of his safety belt saved George A. Davidson's life while his three companions on an airplane trip were burned to death when the craft struck the side of a mountain.

Pilot W. J. (Bryant) Robbins of the American Airways, his co-pilot, Francis W. Briggs, and Victor E. Davidson, were killed. The plane, wrecked yesterday morning, was found early today.

Davidson, who lives in Richmond, Calif., was burned on his hands and face. He was not seriously hurt. The searchers found him about two miles from the plane, where he had stopped to build a fire to warm himself from the chill of the Guadalupe Mountains where the ship crashed.

He said he was nervous as Robbins tried to pilot the plane over the mountains in foggy weather. As a precaution, he fastened his safety belt. When the plane hit the mountain, the other three were thrown forward and probably stunned. Davidson's belt kept him from the plane an instant before he took fire. Almost in a moment, the other men were burned to death before his eyes. Rescuing pilots planned to visit the scene of the wreck today.

Presents Need of Relief Bond Issues

Label George, September 10.—Charles D. Osborne, member of the State Temporary Emergency Relief Administration, today presenting a picture of the relief situation before the fall convention of the New York State Publishers' Association here, estimated that at least one-tenth of the population of the state of New York will be in need of public relief next winter, and that "until conditions have had a prolonged upward turn the necessity of unemployment relief will be increasing and not decreasing."

He pointed out need of the $30,000,000 relief bond issue which will be placed for approval by the voters in November, saying that it was a non-partisan measure to relieve the suffering which will undoubtedly be very great during the winter.

Mr. Osborne announced that reports from many districts showed that their local funds for relief were depleted, because real estate taxation was their chief source of revenue and that source could not stand the strain that has been placed upon it. His statement follows in part:

"In distributing the funds of the state for the unemployed the administration has not felt that much expense could be spent for publicity. So far as it was possible the administration spent its funds directly for relief."

"I am glad that for reason to be able to say a few words to you about the relief system and the $30,000,000 bond issue which the legislature has directed to be placed before the voters for approval in November."

"Need has been and still is appearing on every side. Since last November more than 310,000 families involving not less than 1,200,000 persons have received relief for a longer or a shorter period, through the Emergency Work Bureau and Home Relief Departments operating in the Temporary Emergency Relief Administration system. As you know these emergency agencies are jointly financed by the state and local communities."

"The past winter and spring were very serious ones for the unemployed as all those who have been in contact with the relief situation realize. Everyone now hopes that we will soon begin to see the end of these very hard times. Looking forward to this improvement we must realize that until conditions have had a prolonged upward turn the need of unemployment relief will be increasing, not decreasing. The prospect of better times can cheer the depressed but for the hungry it is no substitute for bread."

"Some of you come from districts in which the local governments have had great difficulty in making relief appropriations because of the limited tax resources and the strain particularly on real estate taxation the chief local source of revenue. A few of you are from districts in which there have been practically no municipal appropriations for relief. A survey of the expenditure of the state's unemployment relief fund has shown us that eight cities in the state have become so involved in financial straits that the state's relief fund has been paying for from 75 per cent to 100 per cent of their relief bills."

"In addition to the limited local resources for relief funds, we must also face squarely the fact that from 1,200,000 to 1,500,000 persons directly affecting 3,000,000 people are unemployed. Some of these unemployed have been on the relief lists, while others have been living on the narrow margin of their savings which are now nearing exhaustion."

"It seems to us of the Temporary Emergency Relief Administration that the need for next winter will require the cooperation of every private and public effort and an even greater emphasis on state funds. By fall the state's relief fund will be exhausted and further state funds depend upon the bond issue. I do not believe there is any question about the need of this money."

"The newspapers, Democrat and Republican, have taken a militant stand for raising funds for the unemployed and in relieving suffering. That attitude has been true throughout the state. The task will be one which will be even more important next winter. It has been estimated that one-tenth of the population of New York will be in need of relief next winter. The problem of caring for them is the responsibility of the more fortunate people of the state."

Week's Events In Kingston Society

It was over to feel somewhat back in the old Colonial days, almost a part of them, at the delightful garden party held by the Kingston Chapter, D. A. R., at the chapter house and garden on Wednesday afternoon.

This charming affair was a part of the chapter's George Washington Bicentennial celebration. Members of the chapter were in Colonial costume, the recent Mrs. G. N. Wood, in a lovely Colonial costume of blue silk with deep lace borders, and Mrs. Alvinus Van Buren in Martha Washington costume, being especially distinguished in their appearance.

One of the peculiarly interesting features of the afternoon's celebration was a collection of very old musical instruments, most of which had been heard in this old town fully a hundred years ago. Besides the old spinet owned by the chapter, there was an elaborate dulcimer in its case. This was a sort of harp, the prototype of the piano, and was about a hundred years old. It was loaned by A. K. Newcomb. There was a curious old harp loaned by Miss Mary Flynn, in whose family the harp has been for about a century. Then there was a large horn which bore a card saying: "Lucas Van Kuren Miler played this brass horn in Guelph's band about 70 years ago. It is the property of Mrs. Mary Miler Terpening (Mrs. Henry Terpening)."

Irving Von Beck had loaned a Swiss music box which was the property of his grandfather, Major George F. Von Beck, a century ago. Aaron Cohen added to the collection a remarkable old Saxeolite manufactured by one Curtis. This instrument, similar to the hautboy, is of piercing sweetness like a flute. Mozart made use of the Saxeolite in his orchestral compositions, but it has not been used since.

There was loaned by Irving Scott a 75 year old flute, once in the possession of and used by William B. Scott in Humboldt's Orchestra and Goelzer's Band.

Mr. Cohen also sent a hundred-year-old French accordion.

Then there was Major Pierce's drum which as drum major he carried all through the Civil War in the Old Twentieth Regiment. Another Swiss music box, 80 years old was loaned by Mrs. W. Fector.

After inspecting the very interesting old musical instruments and the delightful old chapter house itself, with its wealth of historic treasures, the guests strolled out to the garden, even though it was almost uncomfortably cool.

Zucca's Orchestra was seated at one end of the spacious porch which formed the artistic stage and setting for the short but delightful program. The orchestra played patriotic and old-time music until the program began.

The first number was a lovely old waltz danced with rare grace and dignity by Mrs. Howard A. Lewis in a fascinatingly becoming Colonial costume of blue brocade over delicate pink silk with lace cap of blue, both dress and cap being touched up with deep peach colored flowers. She carried a fan. This number was applauded and applauded.

As a short interlude the orchestra played "Long, Long Ago," which was followed by a miniature minuet, danced with grace and great dignity by little Miss Marie Rose, in a gown of brocade to match her name, with lace kerchief, etc., and Master Buddy Fromer in old-time outfit and lace Colonial costume. The children so delighted the audience that they were called back and repeated a "few steps" of the minuet. While the dance was in progress, Martha Washington and a few of the other Colonial dames looked out of the windows, giving a peculiarly picturesque setting to the dance.

The last number of the program was a more elaborate presentation of the minuet, danced by the following Kingston High School girls in dimity frocks, and ruffled pantafoles and chic little hats: Miriam Mann, Mildred Lucie, Olga Sandberg, Alice Winkler, Lucille Chaffee, Marie Marburger, Winnie Smith and Jane Whitney. There was enthusiastic applause for these minuet girls.

After the program, both guests and musicians adjourned to the interior of the chapter house where delicious afternoon tea, sandwiches and cake—some of it made from a recipe of Mrs. Ball (George Washington's mother) and exceedingly delicious—served by chapter members, with Martha Washington (Mrs. Van Buren) a charming hostess, presided at the tea table. The orchestra furnished appropriate music and afterward played for the young people to dance for a little while, which brought the garden party to a happy ending.

Postlady Siglow's friends have arranged to celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday by a visit to Mrs. Siglow and him at the historic Siglow homestead at Malden on Saturday afternoon. They have arranged as an incident a musical presentation a feature of which will be a vocal and piano recital by the celebrated Misses Anna and Jeanne Ross of Charleston, South Carolina, and Miss Leland of Cincinnati, as accompanist. Judge Clearwater has been invited to preside and to make an appropriate birthday address.

The summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Cochran at Malden-on-Hudson was the scene of a most delightful lawn party on Friday afternoon of last week, at which a number of persons from Kingston, Malden, Kingston and other places had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Paul S. Buck, author of "The Good Earth," who, with her husband and daughter, was visiting Dr. and Mrs. Cochran. Mrs. Buck became acquainted with the Cochran while Dr. Cochran, who is a professor in an American medical school, was a medical missionary in China. Mrs. Cochran is granddaughter of Edward Siglow, who was an uncle of Postlady Siglow, and for several years the Cochran family has occupied the old Siglow homestead at Malden, which they purchased some time ago, as their summer residence. It is located near the banks of the Hudson and from house and grounds views of surpassing beauty are commanded.

A surprise shower was given to Miss Sophia Hausleiter on Sunday morning at her home in Rhinebeck by Mrs. David Martin of Ray Ridge, Brooklyns. The musical season for Kingston opened Friday evening with a concert of incomparable beauty, given by Pierre Henrotte, concert master of the Metropolitan Opera, and his artist associates, at the Kingston High School auditorium for the benefit of the Benedictine Hospital. For the first time since the presentation of "The Creation" by the Kingston Symphony Orchestra and a grand community chorus before the high school was quite finished, the large auditorium seating over eleven hundred people was filled completely for a concert. It was indeed a rare concert listened to by an appreciative audience. It was a concert to bring unexpected joy to the "perfectionists" who were present, for the perfection of technique, inspired interpretation, fellowship of ensemble, intimacy of the music and the utmost human sympathy resulted in complete beauty. Perhaps such a concert is possible only where all of the participants are artists like those who played last evening.

Joan Carroll, pianist; Georges Barre, violin; Leon Barz, violin; Paul Foster, cellist and Gerald Kuntz, violoncello, with Pierre Henrotte, the generous spirit that conceived of such a concert as a benefit for a hospital where so many deeds of mercy and still are performed for the sick and injured of the community who could not come.

The program was as perfect as the performance, classic without austerity and enriched by harmonious variety. The first number was Schumann, Opus 25 by Beethoven for solo, violin and viola, bringing forth great many in the audience these first great pleasure in hearing Georges Barre, the world famous artist, with the other musicians. No one but Beethoven could have written such music. There was nothing and exquisite melody and beauty in the "Kontate," through the "Tempe d'antiquite," the haunting ethereal song of the Soto Seated like the spirit of grace; a graceful dignity united in the "Andante con Variazioni," in the "Allegro Scherzando e Vivace," capturing the Pachelbel spirit of the movement, the players passed it on to the intensely listening audience and finally, the beautiful "Adagio Allegro Vivace" put musically before the audience a scene of the beautiful things of life. It was very evident that the perfection of the entire concert was made possible by the understanding love of the musicians that inspired them to give of their artistic best. "Duty makes us do things well; love makes us do them beautifully."

An entirely different combination of instruments came into play in the Quartet, Opus 47, by Schumann, for piano, viola, violin and cello. There was more than romance expressed in the various movements of the quartet, there was worship and exaltation in the Schumann passages of the "Andante-Allegro ma non Troppo" and in the vibrant coloring of the singing "Andante Cantabile." The Schumann was a Will-o-the-Wisp movement and some of the most exquisitely blended tone coloring and bewitching phrasing came in the "Finale-Vivace." To this work Iaz Carroll, pianist, brought a beauty of tone and perfect oneness with the string instruments that was amazingly lovely at all times.

So tense had become the enjoyment of the audience that it was a pleasure to have the program varied at this point by the Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully, S. J., in behalf of the Benedictine Sisters, most graciously expressed profound appreciation and gratitude to Pierre Henrotte and his musical associates for the bewitching charm of the music. Especially did the Sisters and the hospital personnel wish to voice their gratitude to the artist (Mr. Henrotte) who having spent some time within the hospital walls had, as an expression of his appreciation, arranged the evening's concert. Father Scully also thanked the very large audience for their support in the past and for their presence at the concert.

Then came a group of four numbers that were gems of lesser size, not lesser loveliness. Every heart in the audience must have sensed the loveliness of the "Valse by Brahms (Schwab). The string quartet that played the Valse, slipped into sound in the Minuetto by Beethoven, carrying the audience along with its bewitching charm and beauty of tone coloring.

Then came a surprise that was most gracious. Pierre Henrotte, having been responsible for this wonderful benefit concert for the Benedictine Hospital, added yet another kindly act to that, by making a most appreciative and appealing little speech in behalf of the Kingston Symphony Orchestra. He said that he was indeed happy to know that there was such a wonderful musical organization in the city and it should be supported.

In the Pavane by Saint-Saens with the breathless pizzicato in unison at the close and in the Allegretto by Godard, both for flute and string quartet, the audience had another greatly appreciated opportunity to hear more of the exquisite, celestial beauty of Georges Barre's flute playing. The like of which has never been heard in Kingston. The limped Rev. Herbert Hahn of the Plattekill Methodist Church officiating. Interment was made in the Modena Rural Cemetery. Psalmic Composer
Franz Schubert has been called "The Man of a Thousand Melodies" although the Rhine in writing of this says that it is "a libel upon his enormous fecundity, because he might better be termed the man of two thousand melodies." It is probable that no other composer of history produced so many themes, many of which are immortal.

IDLE FUNDS

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was given by Congress in the last session $1,500,000,000 to use for "self-liquidating construction projects." There have been many applications for loans to use for such projects in various parts of the country. Up to the end of August none of them had been acted on. The government itself appears not to have begun utilizing the $222,000,000 made available by the Relief and Reconstruction Act for federal building projects. There is also delay in proceeding with projects for harbor and flood control for which funds are available, and the plans for which were prepared long ago by army engineers.

There may be technical reasons for all this delay. In any case, it is unfortunate. The summer is passing. The winter is coming. Unless there is a great deal more employment, it is going to be a terribly hard winter for millions. The business situation is apparently at a turning point. A good push now, and business would probably be past its dead center, with the motor humming. The vast funds provided by Congress, at the insistence of government and public, would both help mightily in immediate relief and promote future security and prosperity. It is the strategic time for practical action along all possible lines by both public and private capital. And fortunately the latest word from the R. F. C. is that action is being speeded up.

JAPANESE DISTRESS

Japan's troubles do not lessen. Special sessions of the Japanese parliament were called in March and June to vote funds for the Manchurian and Shanghai military campaigns. A third special session early this month voted nearly forty million dollars for relief for farmers, fishermen and small merchants. Conquest in Manchuria and Shanghai up to now has done nothing to help Japan. Military costs are burdensome. The Chinese boycott goes on. Poor peasants have been subsisting lately on cattle feed and soy bean fertilizer. Peasant delegations have been demanding that the government pay some attention to their woes. The special session of the Diet and the vote it voted were the answer to those demands. Whether the answer is sufficient to quiet the dissatisfied elements remains to be seen. It is safe to guess it will not be enough to end all Japan's domestic and foreign difficulties. The $40,000,000 is about one-tenth what the agrarians had demanded.

Japan, like some of her sister nations of the Occident, does what appears to outsiders always to be the wrong things. The nations are all trying to extricate themselves from their economic and social distress by selfish, isolated action. They still have not learned the lesson that the good of any one of them is bound up with the good of the others and that cooperation for mutual benefit and salvation is the only approach to their problems.

EASIER TAX PAYMENT

In 27 states taxes may be paid in installments. They have a relative small tax delinquency. A huge total of delinquent taxes in states where installment paying is not permitted has been one of the dire developments of the times, leaving treasuries without funds to carry on essential public services, pay teachers, and so on. Taxpayers, says a real estate authority, should be made as easy and practical as the paying of any other large bill. There might be times when the tax bill could be paid up in a lump sum, but it is not likely to be so.

can. In others, where the bill must be met in partial payments there might be a reduction in the amount of penalty as each installment is paid. Tax savers should be encouraged, operating on the plan of the Christmas-thrift clubs.

These suggestions may not be feasible. Yet some modification of them should be possible. Whatever method is finally worked out, it must be made less of a burden on the taxpayer. The method of paying taxes should be more liberal and the method of paying them should be more liberal.

SCHOOL AND PLAY.

In one of the oldest and largest institutions for mental cases, the records show that out of every ten cases admitted, six are actually cured and are able to go back to home and business.

Dr. A. T. Mathers, in the Canadian Public Health Journal, states that of every 100 cases with mental ailments, 23 are due to organic causes—some real disturbance in the body—and 73 are functional—not due to any real condition but to some mental twist, illusion, hallucination, and so forth. It is becoming more evident that the serious disturbances of the mind that appear in adult life are the result of abnormal mental "sets" or notions occurring in childhood.

This is the reason that the boy or girl who is sent to school regularly learns to mix with other youngsters, learns to take his or her own part, and learns also that other youngsters have the same rights and privileges as themselves, are getting the ideal training to prevent any mental ailment when they become men and women. Dr. Mathers says "the school is the place where the future adult should be taught not only to know but to be wise in the ways of life."

Many parents get along with a teacher or at a certain school have him or her sent to another school or to a private tutor, and the youngster thus misses the "give and take" spirit of the school life, and misses or avoids the necessary discipline.

There may be the exceptional case where the boy or girl may get in the "bad books" of a teacher, but most parents have learned that the cause of the difficulty is not with the teacher.

When a youngster is at fault and the parent shields instead of showing the youngster the fault and punishing him therefor, that youngster is going to "learn" on that parent for this or other faults during childhood. This means that he will expect to be shielded from or excused for the results of actions which are not for the common good or welfare of the community.

And, as mentioned before, play, group play, is equally important as the school in the prevention of mental ailments. The youngster plays hard, puts all of himself into the play, and yet must control himself, must be unselfish, and must take his bumps.

You can readily see that a boy or girl who gets school discipline, and the discipline of play, should grow into a normal man or woman and be able to get along with other people.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Westworth

There was a hall. She could slip the bolt and get back into bed again. She turned the knob and opened the door, and as she did so, the curtain blew in with the draught and the moonlight ran across the floor. She stepped outside and closed the door behind her, holding to it. There was a soft wocly mat under her foot.

MORON VISITS NAN

NAN sat up in bed in the dark. A-morning had watered her, but she didn't know what it was. At first the darkness seemed to be the room, but when she looked at the pale of the bed, the red hair, which she had pushed back as far as possible, and the big white, which was somewhere on the opposite side of the room, were all that in an even velvet dark. Then the curtain at the far window moved in some unseen current of air, and a pale luminous streak divided the darkness. The immediate effect was to make the room seem immensely large.

A moment before, everything had been pressing in upon her; she could have touched the walls with her outstretched hand. And now, with a puff of wind, everything was immensely far away. The suddenness of it made her feel dizzy. She watched the streak of light, and tried to steady herself. It came and went, and came and went again.

NAN sat bolt upright, one hand on the bed and the other at her throat. She had waked like that, and she had not moved yet. Then, as the curtain was first sucked in, against the window and then on a veering gust blown back into the room, her hand dropped and she took a long breath. It was bright moonlight outside. The blown curtain let the moonlight in, and filled the room with an uncertain dusk. She could see the bed-post against it, and the wardrobe like a black cave. Then everything was dark again as the curtain fell back into place.

She drew another long breath. It must have been the wind that had waked her. She pushed back her hair and relaxed. It was rather horrid to find yourself sitting up in the dark and not know how you had got there. For a moment she had not known where she was—in what bed, in what room, in what place.

She pulled up a pillow behind her back and watched the moonlight run across the floor like a wave flung up by the tide. Like a wave it ran back again. She could see all the furniture now, mysteriously soft and large. A pleasant drowsiness began to steal over her. She thought back to the evening before. Jervis had taken her over the house. She had made great friends with Bran. She wished people were as easy to make friends with as dogs.

A drowsy warmth flowed over her; she slipped a little further down into soft flowing waters of sleep, when all of a sudden they ebbed away and she was awake again, her heart beating and her eyes staring into the darkness.

It wasn't the flapping of the curtain that had waked her before, and it wasn't the flapping of the curtain that had waked her now. It was a sound—not in the room—somewhere else. Now that she heard it, she could remember that she had heard it before. The memory was like an echo just caught on the edge of sound. She did not yet know what it was that she had heard. And then, as she listened, it came again—a faint whining noise, followed by what sounded like a footstep. It was so faint that it puzzled her to guess why it should have roused her from her sleep.

She threw back the bed-clothes and sat on the edge of the bed, listening all the while. The sound came again—a long faint whine, and a distant padding step. The two things together said Bran; but instead of reassurance a wave of fear rushed in. Bran—downstairs in the hall—padding up and down and whining. . . . It frightened her beyond her own power of knowing why.

She slipped down on the floor, went barefoot to the door, and stood with the knob in her hand, summoning up her courage to open it. The knob was cold, and very smooth with age; it was mabogony like the heavy door. Just above her hand entertained company over Labor Day.

Like the fiction of Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's court, an eclipse saved the life of Reginald Livessey, English explorer. Livessey, with two friends and a native guide, was exploring in Queensland in the 1870's when a band of hostile natives set out after them. Livessey's party was able to elude the natives for three days, but on the night of the third day the band caught up with them.

In the moonlight the natives prepared to attack, and just as their leaders began to rush the English-man's party, a black shadow crept silently over the face of the moon.

The attacking natives, 600 in number, thought the eclipse was the Englishman's magic. They fell back in disorder, and fled.

When the cry of "mad dog" was heard throughout the state, and persons of every walk of life were in constant fear of being the next victim of the malady, a John M. Cross came forward with what he claimed was a cure for the incurable disease. So grateful was the state of New York that its legislature in 1886 voted $1,000 for Mr. Cross.

His "cure" was compounded as follows: The pulverized jawbone of a dog; the ground-up tongue of a newly foaled colt; and the green rust scraped off the surface of an English penny of the reign of George I.

BACK PORCH OBSERVATIONS

AND WEST HURLEY MUSINGS

West Hurley, Sept. 9.—"Six times six is thirty-six with three to carry." do not be disturbed if such utterances are heard issuing from the domicile of the town clerk, Clarence Ostrander. This just indicates that the annual school taxes are being compiled and made ready for you.

Formulating the canned goods and catsup bottles is another way of expressing the fact that William Russell has ended in the temporary role of clerk for Charles R. Tiller and his assumed his regular duties as teacher of the Glenshire District School.

Mr. Hiram, teacher of the West Hurley District School, put forth on the opening morn reflecting that the June graduation had greatly depleted the student body. It was a shock to arrive at his destination and find a throng about the school doors. He neglected to consider justly the fact that this village is growing by leaps and bounds. To all the vacancies of these graduates, Janice Joyce, Dorothy Joyce, Dolores Crum, George Perry, Robert Nambaum and Morris Howe, there were Robert Ostrander, Catherine McAuliffe, Norman Cole, William Gaynor, David McDonald and Barbara Ostrander, and still they trooped in. Robert Russell, Ivan DeWolff, Donald Van Wageningen, Irene DeWolff, Betty Glidden, Barbara Smith, Peggy Smith, and Colinda Gaynor, just 14 in all.

Last Monday evening, a moving picture was displayed in the church hall by the Rev. Mr. Thompson. It was a six reel picture entitled, "The Saw Dust Trail," a tale of circus life.

Mrs. Paul Smith, who was removed to the Kingston Hospital and underwent an operation due to a sudden attack of acute appendicitis, is recuperating rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are to be permanent residents this winter, having rented from Hobart Rowe, the house on the hill at "Cool Ridge Park."

A possible contender for mileage honors is Harold Ostrander, who pushes the wheel barrow after working hours in an endeavor to grade his front lawn. Wonder how many miles he has walked so far?

The Little Spencers, Jerry and Rita, harkening to the call of higher education, have hustled home to New Rochelle, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Peres of Woodside, Long Island, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Smith and daughter, Mildred, of Brooklyn; N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey of Catskill, N. Y., were callers over the recent holiday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Rooney.

Mr. Winchell, pastor of the West Hurley M. E. Church, is at last embarked on a well-earned annual vacation.

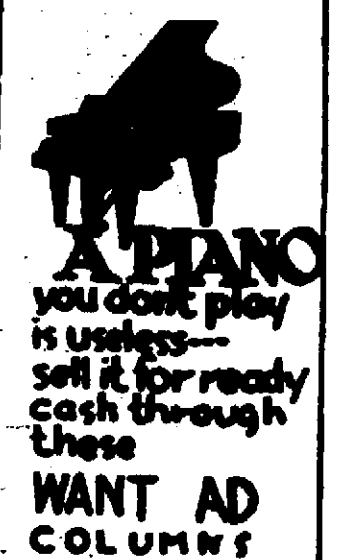

Miss Carolyn Saxe have returned to Long Island, where she will take up again her duties in the Rockville Center High School.

Amongst those who were recipients of the Order of the Purple Heart, was Robert Browning, a West Hurley resident. This is just another added honor placed on his breast for his empty sleeve is a more impressive badge of meritorious service. There is another scar on his knee. Small wonder when he awoke many hours later in a hastily constructed field hospital, that Bob thought that the Imperial German Army as a whole took a shot at him. To ride with Mr. Browning at night as he manipulates the lever of the old model T, scratches a match and lights a cigarette, simultaneously, not only offers a thrill but admiration on the methods he uses to overcome his handicap.

But for the quick thinking and timely assistance of Miss Marietta Buley, there might have been a drowning in the Sawkill. Miss Buley responded to a call for help and pulled out A. Amber, of New York city, who had become exhausted.

Slack, slender and belted, a sports coat in gray kid appears distended in pockets, with flustering elaboration on collar and sleeves, provided by gray Persian lamb trimming.

Gray Persian again registers in the cape-with-muff ensemble, the interesting feature being a convertible neckline, gained through the various ways of manipulating the metal ring fastening which holds the ends in place.

At left, is illustrated a town frock in off-navy in which the adaptability of the puffed sleeve to the wooden stock is indicated. The fabric is a lightweight woolen of soft texture. The trimmings include a two-end detail of summer crinoline and a blue leather belt studded with nickel cabochons which buckles at back.

The pockets offer a touch of informality. Although the suit at center is of a black, basket-weave woolen it has a strictly sports character which is emphasized by the sleeveless jacket with extended shoulders, the high-cut open at front in deep oval to show a white tailored gilet. The collar and lining of the coat repeat blue and green in the knee sleeves, the black woolen fabric of the dress.

The black belt has a nickel buckle. The suit at right presents an interesting contrast. The long jacket gives the tone of a gray tan. The dress is of a soft, black woolen. It is cut open at front in deep oval to show a white tailored gilet. The collar and lining of the coat repeat blue and green in the knee sleeves, the black woolen fabric of the dress.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Among the interesting details encountered in French model collections are:
Schiaparelli's copper slides, bars and novelty hooks of all kinds.

Worth's evening boas, made of wide looped ribbons, fastened in various ways to the shoulder straps of the gowns by means of jeweled clips.

Lyolene's guimpe evening dresses—they suggest extra business for the neckwear departments.

Lyolene's bracelets—Mme. Lyolene herself wore at her opening wide metal bracelets autographed with names of various friends.

Vera Borea's leather cord belts.

Patou's jewelry pendants used to weight shoulder straps.

Metal pins and fasteners—Boree used metal bar pins; Maggy Rouff metal hooks and eyes; Lelong bar and clip metal fastenings.

Once again, jeweled clasps—Lelong had some particularly effective diamond triangle fastenings; Maggy Rouff also featured jeweled clasps.

Chanel's jewel-studded belts.

Patou is one French couturier fond of brown. For more than one season now he has been advocating bronze kid shoes with various browns. This fall, Costa, who makes the footwear for Patou, has again provided the mannequins with bronze foot-wear for a number of costumes.

Regarded as a tendency just coming forward and likely to advance to important heights, the medieval influence is cited in millinery. Hats of this character favor the rounded smoothly molded crown with an off-side line and a "boat-shaped" brim. Brims are pointed and drawn forward at the side front and the side back.

Skirts are generally straighter for daytime; a tendency to elaborate the skirt silhouette for evening makes the tunic a new factor, and fullness, pleated or gathered, at back or front, is in evidence.

Air races of the first rank are those five men who have helped with aviation history for 1932. Left to right they are: Maj. James H. Doolittle who set a land plane speed record of 288 miles an hour at the Cleveland air race; Capt. James H. Doolittle, who crossed the continent in 19 hours and 19 minutes at an average of 245 miles an hour; May Haldip, new holder of the women's speed mark, at 245 miles an hour; Rocco Turner, who followed Haldip across the continent in slightly less than 11 hours; and James H. Wedell, who placed second to Doolittle in the 100-mile-free-for-all race at the Cleveland meet by speeding 242 miles an hour.

OLIVE RESIDENTS ENJOY LABOR DAY PICNIC

West Shokan, Sept. 9.—Once more Labor Day has rolled around and Olive folks and former residents with their families and friends have gathered in reunion beneath the protecting arms of dear old Mr. Lambert's beautiful pine grove on the hill top near Traver Hollow.

This year the weather, much more comfortable for the men folks in shirt sleeves than coats, was directly in contrast to last Labor Day when although the sky was gloriously clear, the strong northwest winds sweeping down Traver Hollow was a bit disagreeable and too chilly for comfort.

A large number of prominent out-of-town guests were present, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Delancy N. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Hill, Superintendent Pratt Boice and family, also his brother Myron, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Saterlee, Miss Adeline Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hinkley and daughter, also his venerable father, Roger, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rouse, all of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Case J. Gorman of Woodridge, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hendricks of Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Davis of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Henry of Newburgh; former County Clerk John Bane of West Hurley; the Rev. Mr. Piper, former Shokan M. E. pastor; Assemblyman Millard H. Davis and venerable father, Millard, Sr., also Mr. and Mrs. John B. Boice of Kerhonkson; Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Winchell of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks of Stone Ridge; members of the Churchill family of Highland; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stutenbury and daughter Alma, also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toms of Woodstock; members of the Woodrow family of Yonkers; Mr. and Mrs. Chesbro Otis of New York city; Lewis Shaw of Lake Katrine; Harry Jordan of Roxbury and brother, John Jr., of Cornell University; and Hiram Montgomery of Roxbury. These names mentioned at the writer's random recollection by no means identify more than a fair percentage of those present.

Since last year's gathering the grim reaper has invaded deeply into the ranks of Olive's citizens and familiar faces seen at former gatherings were sadly missed. One of these was James McMillen of Broadhead, who spoke last year, another is Edward Beadle, whose lifetime had been lived on the old homestead in Traver Hollow.

Ralph Longyear and the Phoenixia Band furnished a very pleasing program of favorite marches and anthems. A great improvement was noted in their musical talent since last season.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Shokan Community Church were in charge of the fancy article booth and refreshment stands. They sold chocolate and vanilla ice cream, bananas, soft drinks, candy, gum, cigars and cigarettes. The booths were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Jones, president of the Ladies' Aid Society of West Shokan Heights, and Mrs. John Thompson of Main street, superintendent of the Sunday school. Much credit is due Martin J. Every of Traver Hollow for his services rendered in cleaning up the grove and removing the dead and broken limbs, also for providing chairs which were placed around the speakers' stand.

The folks began arriving and lunch time found a jolly care-free throng grouped about on the benches or on the cushioned earth beneath the sheltering places. Others had an early dinner at home and then came out for the afternoon. About one o'clock the Phoenixia Band arrived and promptly proceeded to add harmony to the occasion.

About 2:30 the gathering was called to order by the Rev. R. P. Ingersoll who acted as master of ceremonies instead of Assemblyman Harry Davis at the latter's request. The Rev. Mr. Ingersoll and the Phoenixia Band led the singing of the opening song, "America." Innovation was then offered by the Rev. Mr. Pallen, formerly a Hurley boy, who is now pastor of one of the large New York city churches.

The annual election of officers was carried out very successfully and in a business-like manner. Delancy N. Mathews was re-elected president and Jacob V. Merrihue, vice president. One of the unique features of the election was that Joseph H. Hill was nominated and re-elected as secretary and treasurer for the next year, on motion by Assemblyman Davis.

The Rev. Raymond P. Ingersoll, after an absence of nearly ten or twelve years, delivered one of his heart to heart addresses upon the topic of faithfulness and friendship.

D. N. Mathews, one of Olive's favorite sons, gave a short talk in which he expressed his thanks for having been spared to such a fine old age and for having made so many lifelong friendships.

Other principal speakers were Joseph Hill and the Rev. Mr. Piper, a former pastor of the Shokan M. E. Church. At the conclusion of the program, the Phoenixia band struck up several favorite old tunes and while they were still in the playful mood a heavy shower broke over Samuel's Point. There was scarcely no forerunner of the storm, other than the fact that the sky had been downcast all the afternoon. The crowd disappeared even more rapidly than it had assembled, for within fifteen minutes the rain had slackened and nearly every car had left the beautiful pine picnic grove. The sun then came peeping through the clouded heavens, as if to say, "I hope everyone had a nice time," and they surely did, for this year's Olive reunion was one of the most successful which has been held at Lambert's Grove in many years.

SUCCESSFUL FLOWER SHOW HELD IN ROSENDALE

Rosendale, Sept. 10.—The flower show held in Zerkel's Casino under the auspices of All Saints Church on Friday and Saturday last, presented a most pleasing and attractive appearance. Over 100 entries were on view, covering a wide variety of flowers and ferns. The splendid and effective display of gladioli from the Yama Farms, Napanoch, proved a great attraction, being greatly admired by all who visited the show. The rock garden displayed by the Valley Farm Nurseries was another feature of great admiration, showing how the different plants and flowers may be used to the greatest advantage. A very fine display of dahlias by several exhibitors from Kingston, Saugerties, New Salem and Rosendale, added much to the success of the show, while other flowers, such as asters, cosmos, roses, lilies, snapdragons, hydrangeas, petunias, cannas, foliage and ferns, gave it beauty. The committee wishes to take this opportunity to thank the exhibitors and all who patronized the show, and also the ladies who so kindly performed the duties of judging the various exhibits. Prizes were awarded as follows:

Classes of dahlias—W. Ostrander, M. Krudener, M. Tubby, the Rev. W. Gratton, Miss Mann, Glister County Garden Club and Mrs. E. H. Demarest.

SEPTEMBER MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY

The September meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held on Friday afternoon, the devotion being in charge of Mrs. Rufus Kelder.

Secretary Schoonmaker asked the cooperation of the auxiliary in celebrating Founders' Day on October 11, when tribute will be paid to George Williams, the founder of the Y. M. C. A., and to the local founders of the Rondout and Kingston Y. M. C. A.'s. Open house will start at 2 p. m. A program will be rendered at 4:30 p. m. and another at 8 p. m. The auxiliary agreed to serve refreshments and assist in entertaining the guests.

Both Secretary Schoonmaker and the auxiliary president, Mrs. George Dufosse, paid tribute to Frank Powley, whose sudden death has saddened the hearts of this city. His love for and devotion to the Y. M. C. A. from its very foundation and his interest in the erection of the present building were commented on. He was president of the Board of Trustees and will be greatly missed in all the work of the organization.

The auxiliary voted to pay towards painting of the Charles Ramsey Lodge and other buildings belonging to the Y. M. C. A. camp at Glenrie to the extent of $50, also to pay $50 on their pledge.

It was decided to serve a cafeteria supper in October, and to hold the October meeting at the camp, each member to bring her own lunch and coffee to be served to all.

The program consisted of two piano solos, "Barcarole" by Lillie and "Barcarolle" by Ashford, played by Mrs. W. R. Anderson, who was given a rising vote of thanks.

A new member, Mrs. J. M. Norton, 214 Greenhill avenue, of St. James M. E. Church, was welcomed.

WIND STORMS CAUSED HEAVY DAMAGE TO FRUIT TREES

Modena, Sept. 10.—The severe wind storms of the past week caused great damage to the fruit trees which were heavily laden with fruit. Not only the fruit which was ready to harvest, but apples of the late variety to ripen, were also threatened from the trees by the heavy wind.

How Squirrel Balances

All squirrels can jump or fall from great heights without injury to themselves. In falling they have a habit of keeping their legs and tail working up and down in a manner that enables them to preserve their balance and to land right side up on the ground.

HOW

BOLES OF REQUIRED SIZE MAY BE MADE IN GLASS. Sometimes glass can be successfully drilled by means of an ordinary hand drill, well sharpened keeping the point immersed in a pool of camphorated oil while the drilling is being done. A guide plate with a hole to fit the drill to it should be clamped to the surface. Another way is to mark the spot where the hole are wanted; then to clamp the guide plate with a hole of the correct size over the glass; then drill the holes by means of the emery or carbundum powder and a piece of brass tubing held in a very light hand drill. Small pieces of tubing can be held in the "chuck" of small drills and where larger holes are needed the tubing may be soldered to a small piece of round iron which can be held in the chuck. Only a short piece of tubing should be used, two inches being usually sufficient. It should be perfectly straight and recut concentrically. A little water is placed on the glass surface, the tube is dipped in water, then in the powder; the tube is then placed in the guide hole and drilling started with only very little pressure on the drill and with rapid rotation. Great care is necessary to prevent breaking out of the edges of the hole on its completion, a thing which can be prevented only by perfect support under the glass at the point of the hole and by drilling with the very minimum of pressure at the end of the hole. The drill hole has to be kept supplied with carbundum powder as the drilling proceeds.

How Springs on Summits of Mountains Replenish

Springs on the actual summits of mountains are very rare. When they do occur they are caused by the pressure of gases in the mountain which forces the water upward. As a rule springs on mountains are some distance from the top. They are the result of the surface water seeping into the porous upper soil and continuing downward until it is intercepted by an impervious stratum, along which it runs until the larger crops out on the mountain slope. Such springs are generally intermittent, flowing only a short time after wet weather and drying up when there has been no rain or other precipitation for a considerable period.

How to Press Flowers

Delicate wild flowers should be pressed quickly, thoroughly and with a pressure that will not crush them. They should be gathered on a warm dry day. The more succulent flowers are pressed between sheets of white blotting paper, while the others may be pressed between sheets of brown paper, using moderate pressure the first day. On the second day the sheets may be taken out and dried before a fire before replacing the flowers. There are various methods of preserving flowers: by dipping in melted beeswax, varnish, drying with sand or a mixture of plaster of paris and unslaked lime, or dusting with salicylic acid or boric acid.

How "Cat Religions" Came

It is supposed that the well-known cat religion of Egypt was suggested by the services of this animal in controlling the hordes of field mice and other rodents which otherwise would have destroyed all the grain in the delta of the Nile. The cat was unknown to the ancient Hebrews, Assyrians and Babylonians, and the Greeks and Romans did not have cats until after the conquest of Egypt. About 5,000 years ago, it is believed, the Egyptians imported cats from the country to the south now known as Nubia.

How Human Beings Grow

A baby doubles its weight in the first six months of its life and quadruples it in the first three years. No one grows regularly but in a series of spurts. The year of greatest growth in boys is usually the seventeenth, while in girls it is usually the fourteenth. Girls as a rule reach their full height at fifteen, but continue to increase in weight until they are twenty. Most young men attain their full height at the age of twenty, and if in normal health, reach the height of their physical strength and fitness at about thirty.

How to Clean Painting

The painting should be taken from its frame and a piece of cloth moistened with rain water laid over it. This should be left on it a while to take up the dirt. Several applications may be required to secure a perfect result. The painting should then be wiped very gently with a tuft of cotton wool dampened with pure linseed oil. Gold frames may be cleaned with a freshly cut onion. A few hours after the application of the onion they should be wiped with rain water, and finally wiped with a soft rag.

How Watches Are Influenced

Climate affects the timepiece of all kinds. The rate of a chronometer is influenced by tremors, changes in moisture, changes in barometric pressure, time since it was cleaned, oiled or repaired, and changes in temperature. Some of these influences have been eliminated in modern high-grade watches, so in the use of a new time-varying timepiece.

Prolific Fish

One well known authority on the house fly says that in the latitude of Washington, D. C., a single overwintered female may have, by the last of September, 5,000,000,000 descendants, and all that in about four or five months.

At The Theatres

Today

Kingston: "Passport to Hell". Elissa Landi, more exotic than ever, is at her best in this melodrama that is filled with intrigue and good acting. Paul Lukas and Warner Oland lend able support.

Orpheum: "Lena Rivers" and "Partners of the Trail". Feature number one is a Kentucky race track story, with Charlotte Henry and Beryl Mercer. "Partners of the Trail" is a Tom Trier western talkie with more than a little punch and action.

Broadway: "Speak Easily". A comedy offering that is one long laugh from first to last. Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante form a laugh team as funny and enjoyable as anything the screen has offered in its history. The plot of the show concerns a college professor, played as only Buster Keaton could play it, in charge of a cheap musical show. The situations that arise are not only original but clever as well. Jimmy Durante is given full opportunity to display his antics, and beautiful Thelma Todd supplies the heart interest. Worth seeing.

Tomorrow:

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "Bachelor's Affairs" and "Branded Men". The first is a sophisticated comedy on marriage with Adolphe Menjou in the featured role. The second is a western starring Ken Maynard and his wonder horse Tarzan, which offers plenty of thrills for the western fans.

Broadway: "Back Street". Fannie Hurst's great novel made into a picture of extraordinary finesse. It is well acted and well screened. Irene Dunne as the girl who trades the back streets of life and sacrifices all for her man is splendid, as is John Boles in the role of the young banker for whom the girl sacrifices everything. This is a picture for grown ups and a picture grown ups should see, as it is one of the present best offerings.

Jean Harlow, platinum blond of the films, whose career was interrupted temporarily when her husband, Paul Bern, apparently committed suicide, will finish the picture, "Red Dust," which she was making at the time of the tragedy. But Hollywood wonders what the future holds for her.

Feldman Risks Title Against Sexton Monday

Two more days remain before the American Legion state football game on Monday night at the stadium on the corner of Broadway and West 6th street, between the local scrappers and some of the best players from other parts of the state.

In the feature game of the night, the Fighting Senators will take on the local scrappers and some of the best players from other parts of the state.

Feldman also holds a win over Raymond, together with victories over the other top notches from all parts of New York state and New England. He fears no one can hit him and backs on adding Sexton to the list of battles he has overcome so far.

However, Jackie is in for one of the toughest campaigns of his career as the show flash has met some of the best in the cauliflower game over a period of several years and is faced with the experts of the back and block art. Sexton is said to have done considerable work in the National Guard, the same as Johnny Marcellio, who is matched with this Paradise for the semi-final Monday.

It seems that soldier scrappers are not considered professionals and thus can fight in the bouts of the Amateur Federation of Sports Clubs, which like the National Guard show has its own boxing commission.

From all indications Marcellio will have a busy time trying to turn in a victory over Paradise, a sturdy little boxer with a puzzling style who is looked upon as a "comer" in the amateur ranks. The Glens Falls fighter, Buddy Emerson on the last Legion bout, turning in a good account of himself after a long absence from the ring.

The other six rounds, besides the feature and semi-final, is a heavy weight duel between Charlie Carpio of Kingston and Johnny Law, muscular giant from Cementon. These boys have met twice, each winning a decision. They fought one of the hardest fights ever seen in these parts in their last appearance, and the coming match gives promise of being a repetition of that slugging bee.

Four four-rounders grace the card scheduled for 34 chukkers of milling in all and each of these preliminaries stands out as a feature in itself. Joe Nager of Flatbush will tackle Joe Rodriguez of Brooklyn in one; Mickey Raymond, promising young battler from the same district as Nager, is matched with Johnny Connors of Schenectady for another; Chester Dawe and Herbie Slough, both of Hasbrouck avenue, will clash in the third four-frame tilt to settle a "grudge" and Jack Volensky, Polish pride of the Fourth Ward, is scheduled to trade leather with Bob Lager of Schenectady in another. Tickets for the bouts are selling at an encouraging rate, presaging a record attendance. Proceeds are for the welfare fund of Kingston Post, American Legion.

Tagging Major League Bases

By The Associated Press

While the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs pressed intensely to make the victories that bring them home and closer to the major league's two championships, Walter Johnson's Washington Senators are roaring along at a terrific clip that may yet earn them second place in the American League.

Twenty victories in their last 24 games today had carried the Senators to within a game and a half of the Philadelphia Athletics and in an excellent position from which to move into the runner-up post should the Athletics continue to falter.

That streak of Washington's has been featured by excellent pitching, especially from Fred Marberry, Bill McAfee and Alvin Crowder, but it was the Senators' bats that beat back the St. Louis Browns, 6-4 yesterday.

The Senators scored their six runs in the first four innings and held a 6-1 lead as the Browns came to bat in the last half of the seventh. Then Crowder weakened and before the frame was over the Browns had scored three runs and were very much in the game. Marberry stopped that rally and Lloyd Brown pitched the ninth and held the Browns scoreless.

Yankees Drop Two

The Yankees, needing four victories to clinch the pennant, yesterday dropped two games to the Detroit Tigers, 14-13 in 14 innings and 4-1 in five frames. The first game was a wild affair marked by 25 walks, 14 by Yankee pitchers, and amateur ranks. Sam Byrd's error in the fourth a draw with the popular Buddy Emerson on the last Legion bout, turning in a good account of himself after a long absence from the ring.

The other six rounds, besides the feature and semi-final, is a heavy weight duel between Charlie Carpio of Kingston and Johnny Law, muscular giant from Cementon. These boys have met twice, each winning a decision. They fought one of the hardest fights ever seen in these parts in their last appearance, and the coming match gives promise of being a repetition of that slugging bee.

Four four-rounders grace the card scheduled for 34 chukkers of milling in all and each of these preliminaries stands out as a feature in itself. Tickets for the bouts are selling at an encouraging rate, presaging a record attendance. Proceeds are for the welfare fund of Kingston Post, American Legion.

The Cubs moved one game closer to the National League pennant by beating the Boston Braves, twelve more Cub victories automatically will give Charlie Grimm's club the pennant.

Don Hurst's single in the 12th drove in the run that enabled the Phillies to trim the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-2 and make a clean sweep of the series. The New York Giants split two games with the Cincinnati Reds, dropping the first 10-4 and winning the second 11-1.

Renewing The Classic

Gil Dobie Predicts Fair Football Team For Cornell In 1932

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—There is rejoicing wherever Cornell alumni gather, for Gil Dobie has said he will have a "fair" football team.

The prediction is hedged with "ifs" and "ands" and "buts," but to those familiar with Dobie's philosophy and his gift for under-statement, the prediction from Cornell's football coach means more than a 5,000 word laudatory oration from a less careful commentator.

"Team's prospects are good, had or indifferent," Dobie said in explanation of his prediction, "depending on the prospects of the opposition. On this basis it might be said that Cornell's prospects for 1932 are only fair, because we expect much stronger opposition from our principal opponents than we did last year."

Problem in Reserves.

"Our problem as usual is one of reserves. Our replacements are lighter in weight than the men they replace and there is a wide gap between the ranks of our first string men and those who back them up. However we expect to put a well-balanced team on the field and if we can keep it intact we should have a fair season."

Dobie's idea of a "fair" season probably was 1931 when Cornell won seven of its eight games against the same type of teams it has scheduled for 1932 and lost only to Dartmouth, 14-0, an entirely unexpected setback.

A Veteran Team.

Dobie has a veteran team with which to work, a backfield headed by his touchdown twins, Ferraro and Viviano, and a schedule so arranged that only two major games come on successive Saturdays.

Fifty candidates answered the football call on September 6 and are going through drills twice daily. The schedule opens September 24 with Buffalo at Ithaca and runs through successive Saturdays with Niagara, Richmond, Princeton at Princeton, Columbia at New York, Albright and Dartmouth. The climax game with Pennsylvania is played on Thanksgiving day at Philadelphia, giving the big Red team 12 days of rest after the Dartmouth game.

Tailets, Schryvers Meet Mon. Evening

The City Baseball League game will bring together the Tailet Boxmen and the Schryver Lumbermen at the Athletic Field Monday evening. Both teams will be out strong to win this game as a win will strengthen either one's chances of winning the second half. Niek Huber and Tomasevski will form the Boxmen's battery, while Ted Fraleigh and Gene Elder will make up the Lumbermen's.

Connolly vs. Davi Nine.

Sunday at Schoentax's new ball grounds, the Connolly A. C. will play the Davi All Stars. Scherer and Clayton will be the Connolly battery.

12 Or More Players Threaten To Win The Glens Falls Tourney

Glens Falls Country Club, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—As the Glens Falls open golf tournament swung into the last 35 holes today, Denny Shute, Tony Manero and Willie MacFarlane were bunched in the lead with 142, but the championship appeared to be within reach of any of a dozen or more players.

Manero and MacFarlane played the steadiest golf in the two 18-hole qualifying rounds, carding two 71s each. Shute was saved by a brilliant 68 which he shot on the first 18. He slipped to a 74 yesterday.

On the heels of the three leaders came Mike Turnesa and John Golden, with 143s. Then came Paul Runyan with 144 and Jose Jurado with 145. Golden appeared to have found his shaky 74 on the first day with a 69 yesterday. Turnesa also improved his play, clipping three strokes from his first day's 73.

First day leaders who slipped badly yesterday were Johnny Farrell and Bill Mehlhorn. Johnny came home the first day with a fine 70 and Bill was only a stroke behind. Yesterday they ran their totals to 177 each and were well down the list.

Runyan also lost his chance to lead by taking a 74 yesterday. His first day's 70 kept him near the top. Of the 21 who had scores under 150 as the final day's play opened, only six are not nationally known players. After Jurado came Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City, Phil Turnesa and Felix Serafin of Scranton, Pa., with 146 each. Bracketed with Mehlhorn and Farrell at 147 were Teri Johnson of Hazleton, Pa., and Jack Curley of Wollaston, Mass.

Yesterday's STARS

Joe Kubel, Senators—Led attack on Browns' pitching with double and two singles.

Gerald Walker and Buck Marrow, Tigers—Former's five hits helped beat Yankees in first game; latter allowed only two hits in five-inning nightcap.

Bill Walker, Giants—Held Reds to four hits and won 11-1.

GRAND SLAM of the Series

It's the story of Babe Ruth, baseball record wrecker extraordinary, and his amazing conduct in nine world's series.

For 10 years, Ruth has rewritten the record books of baseball and particularly the world championship title. As pitcher, home-run hitter, and master of rival teams' hopes, he has stayed at the top of the ladder.

Edward J. Nell, Associated Press sports writer, will review Ruth's phenomenal world series history in a series of ten illustrated features in The Freeman. Watch for the first daily story Monday, September 12, and read each installment of this colorful baseball epic.

—By Pap Maroon Ends First Week Of Practice

Friday afternoon on the Athletic Field, the Kingston High School football candidates ended their first week of practice for the opening game of the season with Monticello on Saturday, October 1, at Monticello.

The boys went through their usual drills of tumbling, hitting the dummy and seemed to be enthusiastic about the workout. All the boys are anxious to be split up into groups for that's when a candidate knows where he stands. It comes too soon for some and not soon enough for others.

Probably the first of the week will see the groups chosen by Coach Kias. He will select his probable varsity material, then the second string squad and so on down. From then on the boys will hit hard practice and the muscles will get hardened for the season.

Luby Injured

Ed Luby, one of the most promising candidates for the varsity backfield this season, broke his collarbone during practice Friday afternoon. It was while taking out the dummy that the accident occurred. Luby was in line for the fullback position on the first eleven. Last season he showed great signs of developing into a star at punting and passing along with carrying the ball, so that position was practically his. If he showed the same stuff as last year. However, it is thought he will be out for the season.

Boys on Squad.

Following are the names of the boys on the squad: Harold Balz, Chester Barth, Jacob Berinato, John Boschirino, Harold Bowser, Wilmer Buddenhagen, Edwin Burgevin, John Canfield, Robert Canfield, Francis Clark, James Cullum, Arthur Davis, Donald Dyer, Anthony Debrosky, Charles Duffy, Frank Every, R. Every, Lester Finley, Jr., John Gilday, L. Griswold, John Hummel, Gilbert Keider, Emanuel Levy, Edward Luby, Jacob Maroon, Arthur Melchior, Leonard Miller, Howard Murdoch, Frank Myers, George Niek, Daniel Noble, Robert Purkin, Charles Ratble, Morgan Ryan, Raymond Slaff, Hugo Schroeder, James Tiano, Marco Tiano, Tibor Tomshaw, William VanDorpe, Clifford VanValkenburgh, Frederick Wadnola, John Whitaker and John Zaccaro.

Sunday Schedule Of Local Nines

Baseball teams of this vicinity are scheduled to play Sunday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock, as follows:

Senecas vs. Pan-Ams at Saugerties road diamond.

P. N. A. vs. Blue Sox at Hasbrouck Park.

Connolly A. C. vs. Davi All Stars at Schoentax's new field on the Saugerties road.

Port Ewen vs. American Legion at Highland.

Rienzo All Stars vs. Chappe's All Stars at Athletic Field for the championship of Ponckhockie.

Colonials at Athens.

Kingston All Stars at Chichester.

Irish Block Nine at St. Remy.

Herzog vs. Challengers at Kingston Fair Grounds.

P. N. A. Club Meets

Blue Sox Sunday

The P. N. A. Club, which has long been waiting for a crack at the Blue Sox, will get its chance to cross bats with that team at Hasbrouck Park diamond Sunday afternoon. The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock and indications are that it will be a fast one witnessed by a large gathering of fans.

Manager Porch of the Sox has announced that Joe Coughlin will start on the mound for his team with Nick Huber and Phil Peters in reserve. Pitching for the P. N. A. will be done by Joe Nichols with F. Tomasevski as his battery mate.

The rest of the P. N. A. lineup will be Leo Raschke, 1b.; Letus, 2b.; Stan Wojcik, 3b.; "Boots" Leski, ss.; Tommy Lewis, lf.; K. Lucas, cf.; and Roy Van Buren, rf.

Early Crucial Game.

The battle between Alabama and Tennessee, listed October 15, at Birmingham, may have a decisive early hearing on the conference race. Last year Tennessee won 25 to 0 and the Volunteers of Knoxville look just about as strong as ever, in the pre-season dope, despite the loss of stars on the first magnitude guard, Herman Hickman, the roly-poly guard, and Gene McEver, backfield powerhouse.

Beattie Feathers, who showed easterners some fancy stepping in the charity game Tennessee won from New York University last December, is picked to gain just as much fame as Dodd, Hickman and McEver.

At Alabama, Coach Frank Thomas will build his team around "Hurricane" Cain, the fullback-quarterback. The Tide has a pair of intersectional faces this year and Georgia Tech faces a long jaunt to Berkeley for a tussle with the University of California.

Zimmerman Enough.

Harry Mehre, at Georgia, complains about the lack of adequate reserves and replacements for the loss of 12 regulars but the Bulldogs will likely be tough for anyone to beat. Tulane has lost Delruple, Glover and Haynes, three big cogs in the 1931 championship team, but the Green Wave has a whole backfield in Don Zimmerman, who spent part of his summer pole vaulting in California.

Florida and Virginia figure to have improved teams. South Carolina, Kentucky and Georgia Tech will, as the boys say, be "troublesome," even though they are not headed anywhere in particular so far as the championship is concerned.

The new coaches in the south this year include Tex Cox, who took Bernie Nerman's place at Tulane; Bill Jones at Louisiana State; Henry R. Redd, former freshman coach, at Virginia Poly; Tatum Grossette, at The Citadel, Charleston, S. C.; Doc Newton and Gene McEver, at Davidson, North Carolina; and Paul McLeod at Furman University, Greenville, S. C.

Notices were mailed to 55 men who had applied for jobs on a road construction project in North Carolina. Only 21 reported for work.

Small, Perhaps Mighty

Little Betty had never met the mother of her acquaintance Jean, so when the latter suddenly called "Mother" to a very small, young-looking person, Betty eyed her husband and said short skirts derisively and said, "Well, is that all the mother you have?"

Massachusetts Led

Massachusetts, whose board was organized in 1931 at the suggestion of Samuel Gridley Howe, philanthropist and reformer, was the first state to have a state board of charities.

Astronomy's Importance

Does anyone still ask—what are the uses of astronomy? As one instance, American scientists with their telescopes provided the means of confirming the Zepellins, had the world war lasted a few months longer. The first discovered noncombustible hydrogen gas in the sun, then extracted from the Texas natural gas wells, when the analysis was signed by a group of cylinders of compressed hydrogen on the deck for shipment to England, where it would have made the allied dirigible masters of the air.—Exchange.
